

Caring for your children, on and off the field

Sports Medicine + Physical Therapy

Children and teen athletes are constantly growing and pushing their bodies harder than ever before. When they suffer an illness or injury, it's important they receive specialized medical attention from experienced providers who know just how to care for growing kids. Phoenix Children's has your young athlete's health care needs covered — on and off the field.

At Phoenix Children's, our sports medicine and physical therapy teams have extensive experience and training in treating children and teens who have a wide range of sports-related injuries. With six valley-wide sports medicine locations and four fully-equipped, state-of-the-art Sports Medicine Physical Therapy facilities, we help young athletes quickly recover from injuries, and safely return to play.
